

Thank you for your interest in the uAvionix Qualified Installer (Qi) program, which we are excited to officially relaunch!

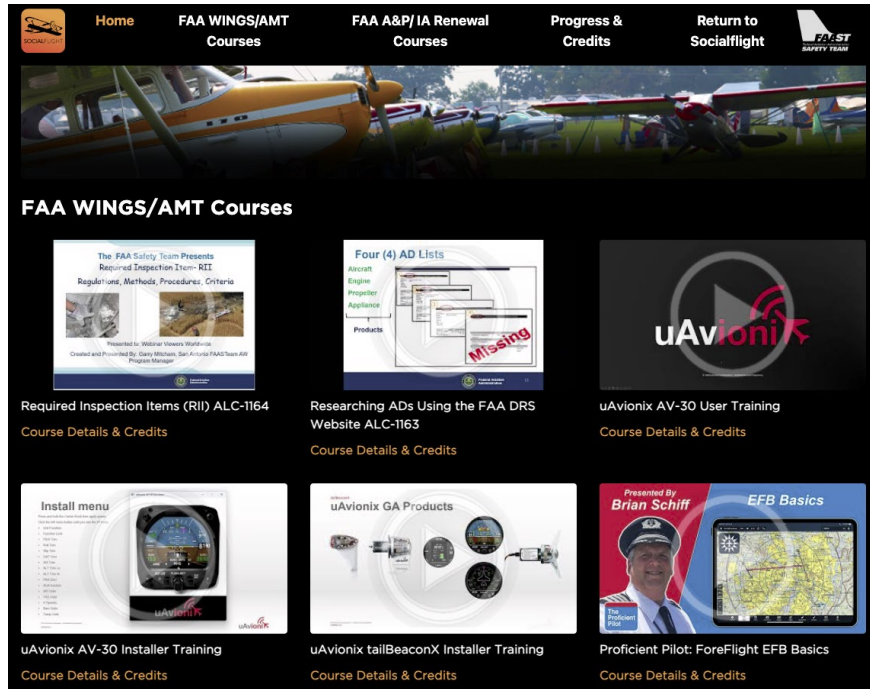

Designed to raise the bar of installation and support on our products, the revamped Qi program introduces online training, and a tiered certification process to ensure top-notch installer expertise and training. Please follow these detailed instructions to set up your Social Flight Account and get started on your to becoming a Preferred Installer in the uAvionix Qi Program

Next Steps to Become a Preferred Installer:

1. Access Training Links: Sign up and log in to Social Flight at Social Flight.
 - NOTE: You should use the same email that you use with FAASafety.gov if you want to receive FFAST credits and NOT “Continue as Guest” to access the training materials.

- Choose “FAA CREDITS” icon from the top menu
- Watch the 3 minute intro video on how to use the system if you are registering a new account. After that, you will have access to all training materials.
- The FAA Learning System will open with the uAvionix courses available

2. Complete Online FAA Training on SocialFlight.com: Access the following training videos:
 - i. AV-30-C Installer Training (Required)
 - ii. AV-30 User Training (Supplemental)
 - iii. tailBeaconX Installer Training (Required)

You will need to complete a survey randomly placed during the course as part of the FAA education audit process. If you do not respond within 90 seconds, progress is lost.

3. Complete Certification: After completing the training quiz, download the certification PDF to your computer. Your certifications will also remain on your SocialFlight account for future use or download and can be used for IA renewal and uAvionix Qi program credit. The FAA will also be notified of the course completion.
4. Return to uAvionix.com to Complete Your Registration: Before registering as a Qi, you will need to have your Social Flight Certificates on hand.
 - Go to <https://uavionix.com/become-a-qi/> and follow Step 2 to register a new account or convert your customer account.
